Debut Novelist Explores The Depths of Human Resilience

Without Jenny by Mark Gunther Releases April 20, 2018

SAN FRANCISCO, CA, April 5, 2018: San Francisco author Mark Gunther celebrates the release of his debut novel, Without Jenny, (Koehler Books, April 20, 2018) with launch parties on April 22 and April 29 to benefit ODC dance school and Congregation Beth Sholom's grief support fund.

Without Jenny chronicles the transformation a family experiences after the sudden, accidental death of their daughter. An emotional story told in honest and haunting detail, Gunther paints an intimate portrait of a loving marriage stretched to the breaking point by the unspeakable.

"Mark Gunther offers his readers a meditation on strength, courage, and the healing power of family." —Rabbi Naomi Levy, author of Einstein and the Rabbi

On Sunday, April 22, 2018 (4 p.m. - 6 p.m.) Mark will be at Robin's Café (3153 17th St, San Francisco) to speak about Without Jenny, his own experience as a bereaved father, and read selected excerpts.
